In a 400-word statement issued after President Eisenhower held a 90-minute conference with his advisers, the White House also called on China to renounce the use of force in the Formosa area.

But the Communists rejected major points made in the statement on Thursday by U.S. Secretary of State Dulles to warn the Chinese that Pres-

Last of Youth Groups Leaves for Home
Jerusalem Post Reporter
HAIFA. — Four hundred and ninety young Jews from France, England and Italy sailed for home in the S.S. Atlas on Friday afternoon after spending from four to seven weeks in Israel with the Jewish Agency Summer Institute. Before boarding the ship, many formed groups to dance the hora and sing Hebrew songs.

They were the last of nearly 3,000 who came here this year from Europe and the U.S.

The young people were mostly high school and university students, many of whom are not members of the Zionist Organization. They covered most of their own expenses out of their own pockets, the balance being paid by the Youth and Hebrews Department of the Jewish Agency. They had spent their time touring the country, working in kibbutzim and studying about Israel.

Minister of Agriculture Sees Need for More Research

By GERDA L. COHEN, Jerusalem Post Correspondent
LONDON. — "We must extend and intensify our efforts in research and agricultural education." After seeing laboratories in Holland, seed-testing in Scotland, teacher-farmers on the Alps, Mr. Kadish Luz could safely make that statement to correspondents here.

For the first time the Minister of Agriculture has seen his counterparts abroad: Ministerial and honest-to-God mangel-wurzel people with the same corrugated weather-beaten faces that he has.

Down in Covent Garden to see the heart of Britain's vegetable before dawn, Mr. Luz might have been mistaken for a porter. However, he appears to have got on equally well in Whitehall. The Egg and Milk Marketing Boards bared their problems for him, while the Minister of State for Scotland apparently put more questions about Israel politics than Mr. Luz about Ayshire potatoes.

Hill farming in both countries have points in common. Crofters get a subsidy to maintain flocks with the best wool in Europe; afforestation, mainly since the war, has brought back men and earth to denuded hills. The dairy farms of Europe are no less dependent on government aid, for an embargo on cheese has pushed down the price of milk products to such a degree that farmers would go bankrupt, or trade their cows for a milk-bid in the pampers city, had they no subsidy.

Denmark alone — the farmer Eden — can manage without artificial respiration; even there, sugar beet received a subsidy. From this it may be deduced that Mr. Luz has no intention of removing moving incentives. It amazed him, for example, to find one rich dairy state paying the farmers three times more for butter than its export earned.

Confronted by the edifice of research behind Dutch exports, Mr. Luz agreed, humbly. "We stand right at the heart." He submitted a list of Israeli oranges and peaches. According to the Minister, such obstacles as fruit-fly, shortage of citrus for concentrate simply don't come into the picture.

JERUSALEM DRESSING UP WITH FLOWER BOXES

Jerusalem Post Reporter
Jerusalem has renewed the sale of asbestos flower boxes, containing geraniums and petunias, the best of the box alone, and delivers them free to the purchaser's home in Jerusalem.

Boxes may be bought daily from the p.m. until Knesset Hachana at the Municipal Garden adjoining the Knesset. Attempts are being made to hold sales in other districts one afternoon a week.

A silver ethrog box is to be awarded by the Jerusalem Municipality for the best success in the sale of boxes. The box is to be awarded to the family on the occasion of the Feast of Tabernacles at the end of the month.

Two other prizes, olive wood ethrog boxes, are also to be given. One to the family putting up the second best box, and the other for a "public" success at an hotel, school or other institution.

Registration for those interested in competing starts on Sunday morning (today) at the main Municipal Building (at 34 Jaffa Road).

US Team Unearths King Croesus' City
NEW YORK (Reuters). — American archaeologists have discovered in Turkey the site of the ancient city of Croesus, famed for his wealth.

An announcement said archaeologists from Harvard and Cornell universities had found the ruins of the Lydian city of Sardis, which flourished from the late Stone Age, beneath the ruins of a Roman city. The site was proved by the discovery of several large, gaily painted jars and the walls of a group of houses, very close to the Ismir-Salih road in western Turkey.

Professor A.H. Detweiler, of Cornell, one of the expedition leaders, said in a statement that the discovery was a "veritable non-hereditary march" and gave him powers which he could use to proclaim a "near dictatorship".

Mme. Nuri Denies Mazliab's Claim

LONDON. (Reuters). — Madame Nuri Said, widow of the assassinated Iraqi Prime Minister, said in London Friday that she had no Israeli grandson who might possibly be an heir to her husband's multi-million pound estate.

Madame Said's statement issued here said she had read of the Israeli court proceedings in which Avraham Mazliab claimed to be Nuri's grandson, "with astonishment and distress."

It went on to say that "My late husband had only two grandsons, Salah and Dami, and to my knowledge my son Salah Said, had no other children."

One of the applicant's counsel, Mr. J. Seligman, left for England and Switzerland on Thursday. He is to appear in the two countries for a court order temporarily setting aside any decision in favour of any claim by the Iraqi Government to the estate of Nuri Said until Avraham Mazliab's application for a succession order as his grandson has been heard.

French Politicians Debate Constitution
PARIS. (Reuters). — Political parties have now begun a series of consultations on their attitude towards the new constitution launched on Thursday night by Premier de Gaulle. Extracts appear on Page 4.

The General is expected to leave soon on a tour of the major towns to rally support for his "strong and effective Republic" and to discuss the Overseas Territories vote on the issue on September 28.

M. Pierre Mendes-France, former Radical Premier, declared Saturday that he would vote "No". He termed the constitution "dangerous for the country, civil peace and democracy."

He complained that it would make the President a "veritable non-hereditary march" and gave him powers which he could use to proclaim a "near dictatorship".

32 Children Treated For Food Poisoning

Jerusalem Post Reporter
HAIFA, 10-13, Thirty-two children, aged 10-15, of the Moshava Children's Home, near Kfar Haim, were reported to be well after being treated for food poisoning at Rambam Hospital on Saturday night. Thirty of the children were returned to the home after treatment. Specimens of the food were taken for laboratory examination by the Ministry of Health.

Atoms Meeting

Ridge National Laboratory, said that scientists, experimenting on mice exposed to radiation, have found that if new, living cells from another, healthy mouse were injected, the affected mouse recovered. One complication, however, is that some mice, while recovering from injury by radiation, died from a secondary disease, resulting from the cell injection.

A paper submitted to the conference on Friday by nine Soviet scientists reported on experiments to discover the effects of radio-active fallout caused by nuclear weapons tests.

They said Soviet scientists have been conducting laboratory experiments on dogs, rabbits and rats for the past three years to check the effects of strontium 90 on live tissues.

They found there were three main phases from this radiation injury. The first, which can last up to a year, is a general irritability of the digestive and nervous systems. The second phase occurred when there was partial compensation of the body for the damage that had been done. The third, chronic, phase developed from one to two years after the start of the experiment.

American scientists, experimenting with mice have discovered that although radiation made them grow old more quickly, they eventually died from the same causes as other mice. Two scientists of the Brookhaven National Laboratory in New York, Mr. H. J. Curtis and Mr. K. L. Gehard, told the conference on Friday that the most prominent causes of death in both treated and non-treated mice were cancer, kidney damage or infectious diseases, but they occur sooner or later whether mice were exposed or not.

They concluded that their experiments had shown a widely-held theory that natural aging results from a breaking down of the cells of which the body is made.

Code of Behaviour for Civil Servants Covers Wide Field

Jerusalem Post Reporter
A proposed code of behaviour for civil servants, drawn up by a committee appointed by the Israel Political Sciences Association, was published on Friday. The code deals with such questions as political activity, labour relations, business connections, additional employment, and restrictions after leaving Government service.

The committee was headed by Justice Zvi Berenson. Its report has been submitted to the State Controller, Dr. S. Moshe, at whose request the Association undertook a study of the question.

The proposed code does not include any sanctions for violation of its provisions. "This is the affair of the Knesset and of the Civil Service Commission," Prof. Benjamin Aknin, Chairman of the Political Sciences Association, told a press conference on Friday.

The committee's objective was to arrive at conclusions as to what is desirable, Prof. Aknin said. Its report might serve as the first step towards the crystallization of public opinion on the matter. In any case, the proposed code, even without sanctions, could serve as a guide to civil servants and might thus improve the general climate.

The code calls upon civil servants to refrain from political activity likely to interfere with their ability to perform their tasks impartially. Specifically, it forbids officials to make public political speeches, oral or written. Civil servants would be forbidden to collect funds for any political organization.

On the subject of labour relations, the committee recommends that public bodies and organizations of civil servants establish joint mediation boards to solve questions under dispute. It would be overruled in the early morning hours, but the clouds would clear later, he said.

ELIAT was still hot on Saturday, with 77 degrees, ten degrees higher than Jerusalem and Safad. The Tel Aviv mercury reached 28, Haifa 28 and Beersheba 20 degrees.

In Haifa, autumn-like weather cooled off the town over the weekend, with a few drops of rain falling on Friday night and Saturday morning. The skies on Saturday morning were covered with heavy, forbidding clouds which had not been seen since last winter. There was a sharp drop in the number of bathers at the beaches with only about 70 per cent of the usual crowd taking a dip. The skies cleared during the day, but clouds covered them again towards evening.

Teacher Will Body To Science
TEL AVIV, 10-13, The body of Uriah Feldman, 71, the veteran natural science teacher and editor of the monthly "Hadera Yehudait," who died at Donolo Hospital on Thursday night, was handed over on Friday to the Institute for Medical Research of the Hebrew University, according to the terms of his will.

Policeman Guilty Of Taking Bribes
TEL AVIV, 10-13, A policeman in the Economic Division at the Headquarters here was on Friday sentenced to one year in prison by a Police Disciplinary Court for taking bribes and passing information to unauthorized persons.

The sentence must be confirmed by the Minister of Police.

Moshe Huban 34, had pleaded not guilty to charges that he had accepted IL1,500 from a Tel Aviv merchant for giving him information from the files of the Economic Division concerning persons suspected of violation of the law.

The merchant, who testified against Huban, revealed thorough knowledge of the police files on his own import-export activities, and those of other persons.

Police have said that the merchant is himself a suspect and that his name is being withheld. No charges have been filed against him, although investigation has been completed. (Times)

Workers Try To Stop Boat Being Unloaded

Jerusalem Post Reporter
HAIFA, 10-13, Hayama shipyard workers on Friday attempted to prevent the unloading of a 17-ton passenger boat brought from Holland for Kibbutz Ein Giv. Vigorously action by Port Police Commander, Mr. M. Shlasky, and mediation by Labour Council officials averted damage to the vessel and casualties. The Hayama management and workers probably claim they could have built the boat locally.

The 80-passenger craft was purchased by the Kinneret Navigation Co. which is owned by the kibbutz and other interests. She cost about IL25,000, and arrived in the s.s. Fairway. The freight cost another $2,000.

The Hayama management and employees claim that the kibbutz had been negotiating with Hayama for some time and that plans had been

Tsour Wants More Marketing Boards

By MORIAM DAYAN, Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV, 10-13 - Marketing schemes similar to those in force for vegetables and eggs should be extended to poultry, meat and possibly other agricultural products, Mr. Z. Tsour, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, told The Jerusalem Post in an interview on Friday. The production of vegetables and eggs is controlled through marketing boards.

The last two years have seen a transformation from annual shortages to surpluses of many products, Mr. Tsour said. Centralized planning of crops and marketing, with minimum price guarantees, will help farmers adjust their production without suffering heavy losses, Mr. Tsour said.

The vegetable scheme had proved comparatively successful, Mr. Tsour said. He was of the opinion that some of the farmers' current complaints were exaggerated. He referred particularly to a conference of gardeners in the South last Thursday threatening to dump their tomatoes if the Vegetable Marketing Board failed to meet its commitments.

The agreement guarantees growers 300 pruta this month for a kilogram of Grade "A" tomatoes. Only 20 per cent of the crop were of this grade, and the board refused to pay a proportionately lower rate for poorer quality fruit.

Mr. Tsour pointed out that the marketing scheme had to work out on a commercial level; it was not designed to provide subsidies for established farmers.

Most agricultural branches were earning only a minimum profit, and any adverse price changes would cause losses. This applied particularly to poultry. Prices to breeders of meat had fallen from IL2.50 a kilo in January to IL1.50 in June. Mr. Tsour suggested that a marketing scheme would provide a reasonable profit margin, but would deprive well-established farmers of the high profits the market made in good seasons.

Israel should cease purchasing American surplus dairy products, Mr. Tsour said, as stocks of U.S. butter were sufficient for another year. In addition, the Government would produce its own milk powder during the first half of next year to cut down on the milk surplus.

Tsour reported that further steps to reduce milk surpluses include raising the butterfat content of bottled milk. Stocks of butter, now at 600 tons, would rise to 1,400 during the coming months if they were not utilized, Mr. Tsour said.

Tel Aviv Has First Rain; More Possible Today

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TEL AVIV, 10-13, This city had its freshest Sabbath morning in many months when the autumn's first shower came down shortly before 5 o'clock.

The rain was preceded by concentrations of dark clouds and drizzle, but later in the morning the sun again got the upper hand, and bathers were seen marching confidently to the beaches and pools.

The Leda weatherman said the raindrops and cooler weather came from Greece, which suffered heavy storms a couple of days ago. He forecast "possibly a few more showers on Sunday morning, and a slight further drop in temperature." It would be overcast in the early morning hours, but the clouds would clear later, he said.

'Hurried' Buying In Turkey Denied
The spokesman of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry on Friday denied a newspaper report that Israel was hurriedly buying any goods she can get in Turkey, at any price demanded, in order to liquidate the $400 million debt owed her by Turkey before that country's new export-import regulations take effect.

The new regulations exclude Israel from list of countries to which exports will earn a premium.

The Ministry spokesman said it was true that Israel had made large purchases in Turkey in recent months, including 25,000 tons of wheat. He declared that these purchases, however, were in the main arranged before the change in Turkey's economic policy became known, and that the prices were in line with the Israel-Turkey trade agreement.

Lawson Sports Field Opened in Natanya

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TEL AVIV, 10-13, The Ambassador Edward Lawson Sports Field was ceremonially inaugurated at the Orde C. Wingate Institute for Physical Education on the Tel Aviv-Natanya highway on Friday.

At the same time, a gymnasium was named after Edward Norman, of the Norman Fund, which helped finance the Institute, and a grove of trees - either the name of August A. Bush, an American supporter of baseball in Israel.

The U.S. envoy in his address complimented Israel and Americans on their efforts on behalf of organized sport in Israel. He was pleased that American sports such as softball, had made "splendid progress" here.

Present at the ceremony, presided over by Dr. M. Avior, Director-General of the Ministry of Education, were leaders of the U.S. Committee for Sports in Israel and the Cultural Attaché of the U.S. Embassy Mrs. Ellen Taylor.

Lavon Gives Reasons For Solel Boneh Changes

By MORIAM DAYAN, Jerusalem Post Reporter

Writing in the Histadrut paper, "Davar," on Friday the Secretary-General of the Histadrut, Mr. Pinhas Lavon, gave a full analysis of the reasons he is putting forward for the sweeping changes that are to be introduced in Solel Boneh. Previously "Davar" had published articles by two of the managers, Mr. David Hachoen and Mr. Heri Repet.

"I could have been a very easy-going Secretary," Mr. Lavon writes, "and let matters go on as they were. But I decided that in order to make the truth, the economic situation I had to become a difficult Secretary. In public life it is no solution to let things drag on only because it is inconvenient to deal with them."

Anyone familiar with the history of the Histadrut economic managers and the Executive Committee also knows that the recent clash is only the latest in a long series. Mr. Lavon writes, "In the past, however, these disputes were generally kept a family secret. To tell the truth, the economic managers or more specifically, the Solel Boneh managers usually came out on top in them. Now for the first time the dispute has brought into the open with the Histadrut-appointed managers admitting their revolt against the parent body."

The history of Hadrat Hachoen is replete with a long list of decisions not carried out and discussions never ended because the managers refused to carry out decisions made by the parent body if these were not in accordance with their own opinions.

"This situation developed mainly as a result of too lenient an attitude on the part of the Histadrut leadership."

Unruly Crowd

There were really few scoring shots but one save of Shapiro, in the Betar goal, halfway through the second half, was good. Following a speedy movement downfield a few drive from close in was kept hard at the Betar keeper. Shapiro got to the ball but it slipped from his grasp and he twisted himself quickly to stop it before it went over the line.

The game was marred by the unruliness of the crowd at the end when the referee had to be escorted by the police from the field. Attempts to get him, and the linesmen, through the normal exit failed as the crowd converged on them, so the police and other officials took the trio to the other end of the field where a police car backed up to which the referee and linesmen climbed.

Tel Aviv Shimonah now meet Tel Aviv Maccabi in final, provided the appeal of Petah Tikva Hapoel, against whom they were given a walk-over victory following incidents at their semi-final game, is not allowed.

Other results (friendly games): Tel Aviv Maccabi 5, Petah Tikva Maccabi 1; Tel Aviv Hapoel 2, Hadera Hapoel 1; Haifa Hapoel 1, Hadera Maccabi 1; Haifa Maccabi 2, Rehovot Hapoel 1; Rehovot Hapoel 2, Tel Aviv Hapoel 1; Tel Aviv Hapoel 2, Tel Aviv Hapoel 1; Rehovot Hapoel 2, Rehovot Hapoel 1.

Neisy Drill Makes Schoolwork Difficult

HAIFA, 10-13, The pupils of the Ramat Shaul school on Mt. Carmel probably had a harder time during their two-week break in school than any other schoolchildren in Israel. The day after they returned a pneumatic drill starting working outside their classrooms, making the teachers practically inaudible and concentration very difficult.

The drill is digging a ditch for a water pipe-line to serve a new reservoir being built near the school by the Municipality. For budgetary and technical reasons, the work could not be done during the school holiday when it would not have been a nuisance.

The drilling is to be completed within a day or two, the engineer in charge has said.

Last-Minute Penalty Gives Shimon Place in Cup Finals

By KEITH BEECHER

A penalty goal scored by centre-half Eli Cohen some three minutes before the final whistle gave Tel Aviv Shimonah a 1-0 win against Jerusalem Betar in the State Cup semi-final on the Y.M.C.A. pitch Saturday afternoon. The stands were packed with over 6,000 spectators.

Referee Ashkenazi awarded the shot from the spot following a melee in the Betar goal-mouth during which he said one of the home men handled the ball. The goal-mouth was packed at the time and it was most difficult to see actually what went on.

This one goal settled Jerusalem's hopes of reaching the final and was, in a way, an unfortunate ending to a great game. Considering the state of the pitch, which at times seemed hit by a sand storm with clouds of dust rising from the players' feet, the standard of play was good.

It was an interesting and exciting encounter with both defenses well on top most of the time, and the forwards contained once they reached the 16-metre area. Some of the downfield moves in the early part of the match by the Shimonah line were beautiful to watch. Betar were a little disappointed although once they got moving they were dangerous.

Neisy Drill Makes Schoolwork Difficult

HAIFA, 10-13, The pupils of the Ramat Shaul school on Mt. Carmel probably had a harder time during their two-week break in school than any other schoolchildren in Israel. The day after they returned a pneumatic drill starting working outside their classrooms, making the teachers practically inaudible and concentration very difficult.

The drill is digging a ditch for a water pipe-line to serve a new reservoir being built near the school by the Municipality. For budgetary and technical reasons, the work could not be done during the school holiday when it would not have been a nuisance.

The drilling is to be completed within a day or two, the engineer in charge has said.

Geva, Winkler Win Singles Crowns

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The Annual National Tennis Championships ended on the Y.M.C.A. courts Saturday with Hana Geva (Goldblatt) of Haifa, and Mrs. Palma Winkler winners of the men's and women's singles respectively.

With current champion, Aris Aridan, and his close rival, Eliezer Davidman, over-seas, Gavriel Dubitzky, National No. 3 seed, was favourite to win the men's event. Geva eliminated him, however, in an exciting semi-final 6/3, 6/4, 12/10. Eliahu Yosef, Geva's fellow townsmen, got through to the final by beating David As, 2/6, 6/1, 6/3.

The men's singles was a hard fought and went to 42 games, before ending in Geva's favour 7/5, 10/8, 7/5.

Mrs. Winkler laid low the veteran star Mrs. Edith Cohen-Mintz in the women's singles final, 6/3, 12/10, 6/3.

Geva clinched his second title when, partnered by Yosef, in the men's doubles final, he defeated Dubitzky and Aris in straight sets, 6/4, 6/3, 6/4. Veterans Mordechai Finberg won the men's senior singles championship beating Dr. A. Gottesman, 7/5, 6/4. He added the men's seniors doubles to his title when he partnered Hana Geva and his brother, 6/4, 6/2.

Mrs. Cohen Mintz and David As came into the picture in winning the mixed doubles with Mrs. Deutch and Geva on the losing side by 6/3, 6/4. In the men's B singles final Yacov Brokman beat Yoram Liebowitch, 6/3, 6/4.

Unruly Crowd

There were really few scoring shots but one save of Shapiro, in the Betar goal, halfway through the second half, was good. Following a speedy movement downfield a few drive from close in was kept hard at the Betar keeper. Shapiro got to the ball but it slipped from his grasp and he twisted himself quickly to stop it before it went over the line.

The game was marred by the unruliness of the crowd at the end when the referee had to be escorted by the police from the field. Attempts to get him, and the linesmen, through the normal exit failed as the crowd converged on them, so the police and other officials took the trio to the other end of the field where a police car backed up to which the referee and linesmen climbed.

Tel Aviv Shimonah now meet Tel Aviv Maccabi in final, provided the appeal of Petah Tikva Hapoel, against whom they were given a walk-over victory following incidents at their semi-final game, is not allowed.

In the third play-off between Jaffa Maccabi and Gdara Yavor, the Jaffa eleven on Saturday won 2-1, taking the National Youth League championship.

Other results (friendly games): Tel Aviv Maccabi 5, Petah Tikva Maccabi 1; Tel Aviv Hapoel 2, Hadera Hapoel 1; Haifa Hapoel 1, Hadera Maccabi 1; Haifa Maccabi 2, Rehovot Hapoel 1; Rehovot Hapoel 2, Tel Aviv Hapoel 1; Tel Aviv Hapoel 2, Tel Aviv Hapoel 1; Rehovot Hapoel 2, Rehovot Hapoel 1.
